British Forces Drive To Relieve Airborne Troops

Push Forward In Attempt To Aid Airborne Troops In Arnhem Area

HEAVY GERMAN RESISTANCE MET

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 22.—British Second Army armored and infantry forces drove forward north of the Waal branch of the Rhine River today to smash out gains of up to two miles in an effort to relieve embattled airborne units locked in grim combat with Nazi elite guard forces in the Arnhem area.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said that German resistance to the Allied advance northward after seizure of the steel and concrete bridge at Nijmegen, nine miles below Arnhem, was exceptionally heavy and stronger than Allied troops had met in the past.

A Reuter correspondent with the British Second Army said that the Allied drive had been halted temporarily two miles north of Nijmegen.

Nazis In Counter-Attack

The Nazi agency DNB asserted that German forces on all fronts in Holland had gone over to counter-attacks.

The troops of the First Airborne Army in the Arnhem area, further reinforced by troops and supplies dropped in the past 24 hours, battled valiantly against the Germans.

The corridor slashed through Holland northward from Eindhoven to north of Nijmegen now has been extended to a length of 40 miles and is 23 miles wide at its base, headquarters said.

All major points in the Salient area, such as road crossings, have been secured.

Some fighting still continued inside Nijmegen but the Allied forces there have sufficient control to permit columns pressing northward to move through.

Janice Graham Is Found Not Guilty In Mercer Triple Crime

JANICE GRAHAM

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 22.—

The seven-man jury today brought in a verdict that Janice Graham, 21-year-old domestic, was not guilty on all counts in connection with the triple slayings on the Everitt Wilson dairy farm last October 7.

The verdict completely exonerates Janice, who has been maintained that she could not have taken part in the crimes since she was bound and gagged by William A. Morell, her former sweetheart and chief accused in this trial, before the slayings took place.

It was Morell who declared, as the commonwealth's star witness, that he stumbled upon the victims in the Wilson farmhouse when he went in for a drink of water.

Morell Awaits Sentence

The 21-year-old orphan boy is now the only person who has been connected with the crimes in any manner. He was convicted last December of voluntary manslaughter.

Russian Armies Driving Ahead On Wide Front

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Sept. 22.—

Twin assault columns of the Soviet Leningrad army smashed to within 48 miles of the Estonian capital of Tallinn today after joining forces northwest of Lake Peipus and lunging deep into Nazi defenses of northern Estonia.

The Second Ukrainian army of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, striking forward far to the south, simultaneously seized the Romanian rail centers of Pancota and Lipova, smashing to within 20 miles of the Hungarian border in a drive designed to trap Nazi forces in Transylvania and knock Hungary, last satellite nation in the Axis camp, out of the war.

The four Russian armies operating in a coordinated offensive to wipe out Nazi defenders of the Baltic states before winter surged ahead in Estonia and Latvia, with the sweeping drive of the Leningrad army in northern Estonia paving the offensive.

Twin Offensive

The twin Leningrad offensive roared ahead, clearing the 800 square mile isthmus between Lake Peipus and the Gulf of Finland of Nazi defenses with its northern drive and sweeping back German resistance in an advance northward along the western shores of the lake.

Taking a heavy toll of German manpower and equipment in the advances, the two wings of the army joined forces and launched a concerted drive to the town of Kadima, only 48 miles from Tallinn.

Adriatic Port City Of Rimini Taken By Allies

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Sept. 22.—

Capture of the Adriatic port city of Rimini, eastern anchor of the German-held Gothic line, by troops of the Allied Eighth Army in Italy was announced today by headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson.

The break-through of the Gothic line at Rimini opens the gateway for a drive by allied forces into the Po river valley.

Can Hit Industrial Cities

A smash across the plains of Lombardy from Rimini will enable the allies to strike forward against industrial cities in the north of Italy and toward the Brenner pass through the Alps.

The occupation of Rimini climaxed a victorious offensive by the Eighth army which destroyed the greater part of two German divisions and inflicted additional heavy losses on two other enemy divisions in the Adriatic sector.

Rimini, situated at the Adriatic end of the Po valley, is a key communications center. From Rimini a main northward Italian highway slices up the Po valley behind the Gothic line.

Gain Bridgehead

Greek forces flanking Rimini gained a bridgehead over the Marone river after driving the Germans from the town of San Fortunato and the strategic Ceriano ridge.

The eighth army victory which paves the way for the last lap of the campaign in Italy was won during a fierce tank and thunderstorm which raged throughout Italy yesterday.

The employment of strong tank and armor formations which finally gained the upper hand in the Adriatic coast battle opens possibilities of a speedy conclusion of the war on Italian soil.

Nazi field marshal Albert Kesselring, showing utter disregard for human life, threw in his last reserves in a desperate effort to avoid envelopment of the Gothic line and a crushing defeat.

Philippine Japs Fear U. S. Troops About To Invade

(By International News Service)

Fresh raids on the Philippines, where the puppet president of the Jap occupied islands declared martial law in view of what was termed the threat of imminent invasion, were reported today by the Jap-controlled Manila radio.

United States carrier-plane raids against the Manila area were continued yesterday following the initial attack Wednesday by craft from a task force of the Third U. S. Fleet, the Manila transmitter said.

Attack In Several Waves

The raiding aircraft attacked in "several waves," radio Manila said, reporting that the craft consisted principally of "P-4-F" fighters from aircraft carriers and a certain number of "P-6-F" fighters and "P-32-PU" bombers.

The Manila broadcast was recorded by the FCC.

Throughout yesterday, it was claimed by the Japs, a total of 43 American planes were shot down, "including 12 probables."

Just prior to the announcement of continued aerial assaults, the Manila radio asserted that Jap naval aircraft had recovered the "hiding place" of the U. S. Task Force which previously smashed 205 Jap planes and sunk or damaged 40 ships and destroyed two aircraft carriers.

The Jap broadcast claimed their navy planes set fire to two aircraft carriers and shot down one Grumman fighter plane.

The reports and claims of the Manila transmitter were not confirmed at U. S. headquarters.

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HQ., New Guinea, Sept. 22.—Step- ping off the tempo of airstrikes against Jap positions in the northern Celebes, more than 100 Liberator and Mitchell bombers with fighter escort smashed an enemy air center with 155 tons of bombs, headquarters announced today.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command reported heavy damage to munition buildings, destruction of a fuel dump, and large fires in Jap supply areas as the heavy and medium bombers carried out their raid without opposition.

Straf Jap Positions

Escorting P-38 fighters strafed Jap positions from low levels and destroyed three small enemy vessels in sweeps to sea.

Carrier-based aircraft continued the hammering of Jap installations on Halmahera, south of invaded Morotai, hurling 27 tons of bombs on Halmahera's battered air-dromes.

Six ground Jap planes were destroyed and many more damaged in the raid.

By RICHARD V. HALLER

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 22.—

Vital Jap military installations in the strategic Manila Bay area were crippled today as a result of a devastating United States task force aerial assault which destroyed 205 Nipponese planes and sunk or damaged 40 enemy ships.

The first major assault against the heart of the Philippines by carrier-based planes protected by the powerful U. S. Third Fleet exposed the Jap positions to further aerial blows in the mounting campaign to liberate the enemy occupied islands.

Martial law was proclaimed throughout the Philippines by the puppet president of the islands in view of the danger of imminent invasion, the Jap Domei agency reported in a wireless transmission.

Attack Is Surprise

The surprise mission against important Jap bases on the island of Luzon was carried out by Admiral William F. Halsey's Third Fleet units under personal command of Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, who directed similar assaults against the Marshalls and Marianas.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz revealed the sweeping smash at the heart of the Philippines in a special communique which described the operation as "superlatively successful."

Mitscher's airmen, roaring over Manila Bay, Sulu Bay, and Nichols and Clark airfields near Manila as well as Cavite naval base, shot down a total of 110 enemy planes in air (Continued on Page Two)

Deep Invasion Of Country Near, Nazis Warned

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—

A warning that the "deep invasion of our land is just about to begin" was broadcast by the German people's radio today as part of a statement asserting that the mass evacuation of four key rail and manufacturing cities has begun.

The station, apparently not part of the Nazi propaganda system, identified the cities as the Ruhr industrial hubs of Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Mulhausen, and the marshalling yard town of Hamm, one of the first targets of the RAF in 1939.

Foreign workers already have left the Ruhr, the announcer asserted.

No Junction Of Holland Forces

Gen. Eisenhower's Headquarters Deny Optimistic Reports On Airborne Troops

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 22

—The headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today threw cold water on over-optimistic reports of the Allied campaign in Holland, denying flatly that the British Second Army has yet made a junction with hard-pressed Allied airborne units in the Dutch city of Arnhem.

In the face of German propaganda broadcasts that for the last 24 hours have reported a junction and today placed Allied forces within Arnhem itself, headquarters said: "There is no link-up yet between British armor last reported advancing north from Nijmegen and the airborne units fighting at Arnhem."

The airborne troops are in a "pretty critical condition," headquarters said, but it is not hopeless. They are suffering casualties and are fighting against what field commanders characterize as "fairly good troops."

Bad weather has aggravated their position.

(International News Service)

ROME, Sept. 22.—With a last cry of "Long live Italy," Pietro Caruso, Fascist police chief of Rome, was executed today for turning Italian hostages over to German occupation forces for torture and killing.

Strapped to a chair and with his back to his executioners, Caruso went to his death in dramatic fashion.

It was at exactly 2:08 p. m. (9:08 a. m. E.W.T.) that the fusillade was fired.

Twenty bullets were poured into him.

But a fraction of a moment before the shots were fired he shouted: "Long live Italy; aim accurately!"

Then his body slumped down into the chair as the bullets ripped off the top of his head.

The execution took place at Fort Bravetta near Rome.

Heavy Armored Attack Is Made By Third Army

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, France, Sept. 22.—

The Germans, unyielding in their defense of the approaches to the southern end of the Siegfried line, were slammed back today in the Dieuze area southeast of Nancy by a heavy armored attack loosed by the American Third Army.

The attack by the forces of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. brought the total of German tanks smashed in more than five days of stiff encounters across an eight-mile sector to 125.

The latest blow by the Americans attempting a break-through toward the Siegfried defenses was launched at sunset yesterday.

Tanks Knocked Out By Planes

At least 20 of the German tanks knocked out in the bitter mechanized warfare were bagged by Thunderbolt aircraft. The remaining panzer units were smashed by Patton's tank gunners who destroyed the gunners in the German panzers.

American tank losses at present are not indicated but they are believed to be far below those of the Germans.

American armor and infantry, backed by artillery, made persistent stabs into enemy territory in (Continued on Page Two)

You Must Aid Paper Collection Here Saturday

Success Of Salvage Drive Depends On Cooperation Of All Residents

There's only one person in New Castle and the surrounding townships who will decide whether or not the waste paper collection on Saturday, tomorrow, will be a success and that is you. If you have your paper bundled and out on the curb before noon tomorrow, the collection will be a success, the war effort will be aided by many many tons of paper and the Mayor's Recreation fund will be enriched.

Everything else is in order. The trucks are ready, the Boy Scouts are ready, the loaders are ready, and the box cars are ready. The Red Cross is ready to operate the lunch stand for those working in the collection, in short everything is ready. If you are ready then the collection is all set.

Above all things, bundle your newspapers, magazines and card board securely. Loose paper will be refused by the mills and it would be a shame to do all the work and then not get the paper into the processing mills. Bundle your paper and magazines in cardboard with heavy twine in bundles not more than 15 pounds.

The trucks will start out from Conn's wedding shop on South Croton avenue at one o'clock and the city will be covered. Every truck will be manned by Boy Scouts and at least two adults, and the loading into the box cars will be done by volunteers.

Neshannock, Shenango and Union townships paper will be collected at the schools in the township before noon.

H. A. Blesch is taking care of the collection in South New Castle, and in New Castle trucks will cover every street.

Help make the waste paper collection a success tomorrow. Uncle Sam needs the paper and the Mayor's Recreation fund needs the money. Get two for one tomorrow by having your paper out on the curb before noon.

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

Campaign-bound members of congress are on their way home from Washington today to mend their political fences as the legislature takes an eight-week pre-election recess.

House and senate members are hopeful the year will reconvene Nov. 14 and before they reconvene they will be advised they will be recalled on three days' notice in the event of a sudden emergency requiring their presence.

Before leaving the capital, four congressmen—Reps. Gordon (D) Ill., Dingell (D) Mich., Sadowski (D) Mich., and O'Konski (R) Wis.—were assured by Secretary of State Hull that the United States government will stand up for the rights of Poland in territorial settlements after the war.

The congressmen represent Polish-American districts and called on Hull before leaving Washington to learn the intentions of the state department regarding the fate of Poland and other small nations.

Meanwhile, the justice department is taking up the senate investigation of surplus war property operations by Irving Wexler, alias Waxey Gordon, the jail-wise veteran of New York's lush beer racket era. Records of Gordon's telephone calls were turned over to the justice department by the senate war investigating committee.

Commission Weighs Bus Merger Plans

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22.—(INS)—

The interstate commerce commission had before it the results of a hearing held on the application of the Greyhound Corporation to acquire the West Ridge Transportation Company, of Girard, and the Buffalo and Erie Coach Corporation, of Fredonia, N. Y.

A highlight of the hearing was endorsement of the plan by David McMahon, Sr., president of the Harmony Short Line, which connects with the West Ridge Transportation Company.

G. A. Stevens, treasurer and assistant secretary of the Greyhound Corporation, outlined the agreement between the Greyhound firm and McMahon, president of the West Ridge Transportation Company, and said that Greyhound plans to retain McMahon in an advisory capacity for the next five years, if the merger is approved.

He said the merger was designed to give more adequate bus service between Western Pennsylvania and New York State.

There was no official confirmation of a Wednesday attack by superfortresses.

The report claimed that 23 of the bombers were shot down.

Assert Germans Counter-Attack On Holland Front

DNB admitted that Allied planes were continuing to drop supplies to the airtroopers on the ground.

Marines Battle To Blast Last Japs Off Island

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 22.—(INS)—U. S. Marines were battling today to blast the Japs from their last remaining strongholds on Peleliu Island in the Palau group.

A Pacific fleet headquarters communiqué revealed that minor gains were made in a northerly direction but that the Marines still were facing stiff opposition from Japanese well-entrenched in precipitous terrain.

Total of enemy dead on Peleliu was scaled downward from a previously announced 7,045 to 6,792, while on Angaur Island, six miles to the south, the total was raised from 600 to 1,200, making the grand total of enemy killed in the Palau invasion, 7,992.

The Marines have gained full control of the eastern coast of Peleliu and captured additional enemy equipment including 31 machine guns and six trench mortars. Ten more destroyed enemy planes have been discovered on Peleliu's airfield, raising the number of enemy aircraft found there to 127.

shall reject both of these courses and choose a new leadership pledged to attain a maximum of security without loss of our essential freedoms and with neither malice nor favor toward any group or class.

For myself I am utterly confident that America can achieve stability and lasting prosperity without the loss of any part of its economic freedom.

Close to 100,000 persons greeted the Republican nominee at one time or another during his 12-hour visit to Oakland and San Francisco. Nearly 75,000 lined the streets on his arrival and more than 10,000 filled the big civic auditorium for his radio speech.

Gov. Dewey charged the Roosevelt administration has "failed utterly" to find a way of providing both economic security and political freedom.

He assured labor, which is an important factor in California, that it has nothing to fear from Republican victory in November.

"In bygone days," he said, "working men and women worked for whatever they could get...in hard times people had to work for literally starvation pay. That was one of the brutal ways our society adjusted itself to depressions under the old-time dog-eat-dog economy. Those days are never coming back again."

Government's first task in the peacetime years ahead, Gov. Dewey promised, will be to see to it that conditions exist which promote wide-spread job opportunities in private enterprise.

Gov. Dewey said unemployment insurance, old-age pensions are here to stay and that the Republicans will broaden them. He also included protection of the farmers against wild price fluctuations and stabilization of interest rates to prevent government bonds from falling after this war, as they did after the last.

Outlines Principles

The GOP nominee outlined the three basic principles of the Republican program for postwar jobs and opportunities as follows:

1—Establishment of a government which will promote fair trade and "not consider trade as something to be tolerated."

2—Administration of government by men and women who believe in and understand American workers, businessmen and farmers.

3—Better relationship between government and the people.

The Republican nominee warned there are "no clever short-cuts" to jobs for all, but that the miracle of wartime production can be duplicated in peacetime if business and industry are given the "green light" by an understanding government.

He called for drastic revision of oppressive tax laws; revision of government regulations which "discourage and wear down producers in every field," and laws simple and clear enough so men can know what they are allowed to do.

The stand made by the Germans was the firmest since the Normandy campaign.

German troops counter-attacked intermittently on separate sectors. Enemy armor spearheads were backed by plenty of artillery.

Although on Tuesday and Wednesday 68 German tanks were knocked out in a dozen scattered encounters, at sunset yesterday a more concentrated armored counter-thrust developed and apparently still is going on over the flat but wooded area northwest of Dieuze where American artillery is pounding German tanks dug into pits, that possibly because fuel is unavailable.

It was estimated that the Germans are staking all spare armor in this area to prevent General Patton's forces from making an end run to the Siegfried line 25 miles away.

At the southern end of the western front in France the Germans reinforced their troops guarding the approaches to the Siegfried line with artillery, primarily in the Epinal area.

Fighting in the Epinal area was termed "rather heavy," with every foot of ground being seriously contested.

French troops in the Belfort area withdrew slightly in the face of a violent German counter-attack from Verdun.

Allied forces at the Leopold canal as yet had made no crossing. Mopping up proceeded between the canal and Antwerp.

Cling To Arnhem Area
The troops of the first airborne army holding positions at the Lek river in the Arnhem area clung grimly to territory seized after they were dropped from the skies, fighting off repeated thrusts by strong German forces while awaiting the arrival of the British second army.

Below Nijmegen in the direction of Eindhoven, British second army troops and airborne forces steadily widened the corridor driven northward through Holland.

In widening the base of the corridor in Holland, allied forces reached Someren on the east and battled the Germans in the area of Winteren to the west.

Mopping up operations were in progress on the southern bank of the Schelde river following the capture of Terneuzen.

American first army troops mopped up German resistance forces in both the Stolberg and Busbach area. House to house fighting raged in Stolberg while the Yanks gained high ground east of the town.

American troops were clearing Hurtgen forest against moderate artillery fire and mopping up in the area of Lammersdorf.

JANICE GRAHAM IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

ter in the death of Mrs. Helen Wilson is now awaiting sentencing on that charge.

For the first time since the trial began 11 days ago, Janice broke down and cried when the verdict was announced.

Court attaches reported the jury came to its decision at 1:15 a. m. after deliberating since noon yesterday.

When presiding judge George H. Rowley handed the case to the jury, he said that it could bring in any one of four verdicts:

Verdicts Possible
Not guilty of all three counts, guilty of first degree murder, guilty of second degree murder and manslaughter.

"You must try to arrive at a verdict as you would the questions of every day life," the jurist explained.

Prosecutor Donovan Henry, however, in summing up the state's contentions that the unemotional, 21-year-old domestic had a direct part in the crimes, asked that Janice be found guilty in the highest degree.

The commonwealth contended that Janice became involved in an argument with Mrs. Helen Wilson, wife of the farm owner, over attentions paid to Everett, and that subsequently Mrs. Helen Wilson was strangled, and Mrs. Katherine Wilson, the dairyman's mother, and Robert McKay, a hired hand, were shot to death by the girl.

Janice, however, claimed that she was bound and gagged by William A. Morell, her former lover, before any of the crimes were committed. Morell is presently awaiting sentencing upon his conviction of voluntary manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Belgian Cabinet Resigns In Body

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The Brussels radio announced this afternoon that the Belgian cabinet has resigned.

The entire government, headed by Premier Hubert Pierlot, resigned in a body.

The step was taken less than 24 hours after Prince Charles took the oath as regent of the country in the absence of King Leopold, now held hostage by the Nazis. Observers felt the resignation may have been merely a formal step, clearing the way for Charles to name a new government of his own choosing, which may well include members of the resigned cabinet.

With New Castle Afro-Americans

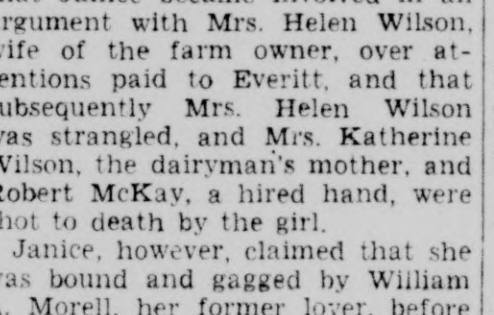

South Side Prayer Band members will meet this evening at 8 in the home of Mrs. Bertha Wagner, Moravia street, Mrs. Tazie Wright will be in charge.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our beloved father and husband Michael Coveili who passed away three years ago today.

"The moon and stars are shining upon a lonely grave,
Where sleeps a husband and father
We loved but could not save.
We often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died.
To think you could not say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes;
For all of us you did your best
May God grant you Eternal Rest.
Sadly missed by wife and children.

President's Board Allows Legal Entry Of Mrs. Browder To U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The state department disclosed today that Mrs. Raisa Berkman Browder, wife of communist-leader Earl Browder, has been legally admitted to the United States by action of the president's board of visa appeals.

The president's appeal board acted over the objections of two other visa committees as well as the objections of representatives of the state, war and navy departments, the bureau of immigration and the FBI.

Mrs. Browder, the state department disclosed, obtained an American visa in Montreal Sept. 8 and thus was officially admitted to the United States. She was ordered deported in 1940.

CARRIER-BASED U. S. PLANES IN SURPRISE RAID

combat and destroyed 95 more on the ground, in the first major move to avenge the heroes of Bataan and Corregidor.

Admiral Nimitz reported that American losses were surprisingly light in view of the daring and magnitude of the action. Jap air resistance was on a large scale but the varied enemy grand fleet failed to appear for the defense of the highly-prized islands. No damage was done to surface ships in the powerful Third fleet.

Fifteen United States planes were listed as lost but "several" flight personnel from these aircraft were rescued.

Jap Ships Sunk
Swarms of carrier bombers and fighters were sent streaming from Mitscher's fleet-tops to hurl destruction down on enemy shore installations and sent 11 enemy ships to the bottom while probably sinking or damaging 29 more.

Jap ships listed as definitely sunk in the raid were:

- One large destroyer leader
- Four large oil tankers
- One small oil tanker
- Two large cargo ships
- One medium cargo ship
- Two small cargo ships
- Jap ships listed as probably sunk or damaged were:

- One destroyer
- Two large oil tankers
- One large transport
- Ten large cargo ships
- Twelve medium cargo ships
- Two barges and a floating dry-dock.

The Luzon smash was a sequel to the crushing raid made by Halsey's and Mitscher's forces two weeks ago on the southern and central Philippines.

Shortly before Gen. Douglas MacArthur's assault troops moved into the Halmaheras with an invasion of Morotai Island and the veteran first division marines and the army's Eighty-First Division landed on Peleliu and Angaur in the Palau Islands, huge forces from the Third Fleet combed the entire area with terrific shelling.

The American forces exacted a tremendous toll of enemy ships and planes in raids on Mindanao, Panay, Cebu, Negros and Leyte Islands.

Since the initial attack on Mindanao, Sept. 8—the first smash by United States naval forces against the Philippines since the war began—709 Jap planes have been destroyed by Mitscher's airmen.

Pearl Harbor observers considered the fact that the Japs failed to bring any force of surface warships to the defense of the important island of Luzon, an indication that the enemy either was completely surprised by the swift American strike or that his grand fleet has been retired for the protection of the Jap homeland.

New Landings Are Reported On The Halmaheras

MELBOURNE, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Two new American landings on Morotai Island in the Halmaheras, north and south of the original beachhead, were reported in a Tokyo radio message recorded in Melbourne today.

There was not immediate confirmation of the Jap report from Allied quarters.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Organized Labor Is Divided On Candidates

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—Governor Dewey has made a frank bid for the labor vote in a speech that hit hard at the confusion and uncertainty in Washington.

Whether he will get more than a small fraction of that vote is doubtful. The Gallup poll shows President Roosevelt with 72 per cent of the CIO vote and 63 per cent of the AFL vote.

Within the AFL there is deep resentment over the prominence of the CIO's Political Action Committee. Conservative Republican elements in the older labor organization are exploiting the Sidney Hillman menace to the fullest in order to frighten federation members leaning toward Roosevelt into a belief that the fourth term will mean the complete domination of the CIO.

Boston Situation

In some cities, however, the two factions have reached an agreement on local candidates. The situation in Boston, where I have just been, is particularly interesting.

The PAC in Massachusetts is showing more sense than it has in other areas, has endorsed Governor Saltonstall in his race for the Senate. This is, of course, an effort to get onto the bandwagon, since Saltonstall's election is almost a foregone conclusion. The nonpartisan political committee of the state federation of labor has also given its approval to Saltonstall.

In the contest for governor, both labor organizations have come out for the Democratic candidate, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston. His opponent is Horace T. Cahill, who has been lieutenant governor during Saltonstall's six terms in the state house.

Cahill seems to be pretty much of a cipher, one reason being that he has stood in the shadow of Saltonstall's spreading popularity. Tobin, on the other hand, is a vigorous, attractive young man who has given Boston a sound administration. Behind him, too, is the record of having been the young St. George who twice vanquished the old dragon of Democratic politics in Massachusetts, James Michael Curley.

Circulates Records

The federation's nonpartisan committee circulated the records of both Cahill and Tobin during their service in the legislature. As shown by the AFL, it reflected credit on Tobin.

This is the same technique that the federation has been following in politics for many years. It is in direct contrast to the approach of the CIO. The Maine CIO organization insisted on putting up labor candidates against Republicans whose popularity had been repeatedly tested.

They did this over the strong protest of the national PAC office in New York. The men around Hillman pointed out what is obvious: that any candidate branded as a labor candidate cannot possibly be elected in communities where labor is in the minority. If Hillman and his chief advisors could control all their regional offices, they would come close to following the AFL technique.

Split In Ranks

But there is a split in CIO ranks on this question, and that is particularly true in New York. Liberals who split off from the American Labor party to form the American Liberal party favor third party action rather than the pick-and-choose method within the two party system.

Organized labor is divided, and divided and divided again. There is evidence that part, at least, of the CIO's new strength is based together merely by the authority of the War Labor Board. When that is taken away, union leaders will have a tough time holding their lines.

In the face of this deep divisiveness, Dewey said he will appoint a secretary of labor "from the ranks of labor." But what rank? CIO? AFL? The United Mine Workers? In the old days, before the mass expansion of the labor movement, it was as simple as that. Today, it's far more complicated, as Dewey will discover if he moves into the White House next January.

AFTERWARD

Little will be changed. Pay may establish borders. But after they're all arranged. Salesmen will seek for orders. Merchants will look for trade. Capital lean on labor. Some one in need of aid. Will call to a nearby neighbor.

Talk of it as we will. However, the world we fashion. Men will be human still. Subject to every passion. Joys will be much the same. The same will be all our sorrows. Youth will seek wealth and fame. Down through the new tomorrows.

This is what life will be: Bleat of the church and college; Home from the train free; Open all doors to knowledge; Laughter and song and prayer; Peace at the dinner table; The right in all good to share. As far as a man is able.

The Parent Problem

STUDY TIPS FOR EX-SOLDIER

A young man disabled in this war writes: "I am 28 years old. I entered college this year as a freshman, after being out of school for eight years. I wonder if you can give me some advice on studying and memorizing."

"I would not like to fail on my examinations, as I know the value of education, having experienced the problems one faces who have an education, during the years I was out."

"I am being aided by my family and the best appreciation I can show them now is to make good grades in college. I have tried the study methods I used in high school, but I seem to be making slow progress. I will appreciate any advice you offer. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

In answering this young man, I wrote in part as follows. Naturally, it is not easy to cultivate good study habits after being out of school eight years. However, you have gained much practical wisdom in the meanwhile which should make your studies meaningful. Of course, you will have to master many items at college which won't have immediate bearing on your past experience and present interests.

Tips On Studying

I am enclosing my "Tips To Students." Please read each item carefully and try to put it into practice. Most of all, you should make yourself pay strict attention to all that is discussed and presented in class. Take a few notes then which will help you to review and amplify these notes at your study period each evening. Note very carefully all assignments and go at them promptly, regularly and systematically. When you have an assignment to be completed over a period of several weeks, be sure to begin with it right away and have it completed in good time.

Hold yourself strictly to a regular study period daily and let nothing, if possible, interfere with it. It may be well to assign so much time to each subject for this period, giving more time to the subjects which are harder than to those which are easier. As a rule, you should hold to this time schedule whether you have completed each subject's preparation or not.

Reading Aids

As you read your text material, go over the whole chapter to get a general notion of it. Then go back and attack it paragraph by paragraph, sentence by sentence, carefully noting the paragraph headings. Work on each paragraph until you can turn it into a sentence or two of your own, even writing down these sentences. After you have finished the chapter, you might memorize these sentences or their meanings.

Some of your subjects there will be certain important facts and symbols you will need to learn by heart. By listening carefully in class you should gain skill at picking out these essential items to be memorized. After you have selected them carefully make yourself stick to them, repeating them carefully to yourself until you have learned them by heart. Don't let yourself. You will have to do some of this memorizing in order to succeed. Review these things you have memorized as you begin your study period. But don't memorize from the text book what may just as well be put into your own language.

If you find you are a poor reader, assign yourself a period of 15 minutes a day to read some material considerably easier than that of your text books, summarizing in a few words what you have read. Occasionally do the reading aloud.

Under the federal corrupt practices act no corporation is permitted to give to a candidate for campaign fund. However—that same old "however"—the president or any other officer of any corporation may send his personal check to either national committee. Once this is done, there are ways—I'm only repeating what people tell me—of maneuvering the corporation into a position to reimburse the check writer.

Seems to me that $3,000,000 is something of a sum, even in the Roosevelt era, to spend on the task of electing a citizen "without whose guiding hand this nation and all other nations must perish from the earth."

"Three million dollars"—Why that's nothing at all! A knowing public servant told me. "Think of the cost of radio time! Those national bookies are simply terrific!"

So are the special trains. And the hand-out to little towns who want to stage a meeting and can't afford to pay the expenses of a speaker, or the literature. I find that the cost of "literature" is appalling. Almost as much as stamps. Why, you can't conceive what stamps cost in a national campaign!

Advantage neglected that little advantage possessed by any president in office when he wants to make a campaign trip. He can call the trip by a sweeter name—an inspection trip. Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover visited practically every hamlet and farm in the U.S.A. on "inspection" trips. And just why was Senator Truman permitted access to the files as the basis for a published article? If it is not real why have not the Navy files on the subject been available to all members of Congress?

It was assumed, when Congress voted to postpone the court-martial of Admiral Kimmel and General Short until a month after the national election that the whole subject of Pearl Harbor would be kept out of politics. Such an assumption presupposed that the accused officers should be immune from charges until the time came when they could make a defense. But Senator Truman chooses to kick Pearl Harbor into the middle of the campaign. His action not only broke the presumptive bargain of silence, but was grossly lacking in sportsmanship because of Admiral Kimmel's inability to offer substantial refutation pending the court-martial.

As the Senator and Representative from Michigan insist, there would seem to be no further reason for the secrecy which has surrounded the Pearl Harbor tragedy. Who is so keenly interested in shelving the issue until after election—and why?

Hirohito's ears should be plenty full. They're talking about him in Quebec.

Political Campaigns Are Expensive Affairs
Bills Must Be Footed By Political Parties
Raising Money For Campaigns Is Tricky Task

By HELEN ESSARY

(Central Press Columnist)

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—Expense accounts are always full of "quips and cranks and wanton wiles." Expense accounts are tricky.

The most exquisitely honest person when turned loose with an expense account goes slightly spotty in his otherwise pure soul and wonders: "Seems odd that I can't manage to get in a few extra parties or a present or two. Or even that traditional new overcoat under the heading of 'tips and incidentals.'"

If, however, limpid honesty washes out the spiritual spots in our hero's libido or wherever it is in which psychanalytically spots lurk, then the poor wretch is likely to forget what he spent for dinner on Thursday and what he gave the porters on the train and end with the expense account owing him money.

Three Million Is Limit

Such, dear voters, is not always the case with the holder of the campaign expense account. Particularly the account, the vast, extraordinary vast expense account, allowed the candidates for the White House. This account is called the presidential campaign fund. It is limited, officially, to a paltry $3,000,000.

Before Carl A. Hatch, United States senator from New Mexico, began his campaign for the White House, he was the limit to offerings to any campaign fund for chief executive or—dear reader—

After Senator Hatch got to thinking out loud in the Senate about where campaign contributions come from and where they go he got the Hatch act organized and propped it up in the campaign circus as the stiffest hurdle any campaigner had had to jump since misled citizens began running for public office.

I won't go into the details of the Hatch act. It is pleasant and appropriate to know since its purpose is political purity, that its author came from a little mountain town in New Mexico called Clovis. It is also soothing to the reformer who has seen the light, to realize that every expense incurred by a candidate—I am talking now about the expenses of a candidate for the White House—must be sworn to and submitted by both the Democratic and Republican national committees every three months to the Senate committee on campaign expenditures.

The proper name of this important committee is "privileges and election committee" of which Senator Theodore Green is now chairman.

Yet, try as the Senate committee and similar conscientious committees do to obey the law and the letter of the law, there are means of "getting around the Hatch act." For example, under the act, $5,000 is the limit for any contribution to a presidential campaign fund. Yet there is a record of one gentleman who gave $5,000 in eight states to the campaign fund of the same presidential candidate. This made $40,000 in all.

Corporation's Taboo

Under the federal corrupt practices act no corporation is permitted to give to a candidate for campaign fund. However—that same old "however"—the president or any other officer of any corporation may send his personal check to either national committee. Once this is done, there are ways—I'm only repeating what people tell me—of maneuvering the corporation into a position to reimburse the check writer.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

If there is anything I dislike to do, it is to give people advice on how to live.

That takes an entirely different kind of a person than what I am, and many of my readers have accused me of being entirely too flip and not sufficiently sanctimonious.

But what the heck, I get a lot of fun out of life and I like to see others enjoy it.

So when I am now answering the query of a young lady who wrote, "Will you explain happiness to me?" I do it simply the way I see it, and you may take it or leave it.

Happiness, to begin with, can come to you only if you are entirely yourself, without sham, without pretense, without affectation, without overambition.

To be happy, imagine yourself as an engine.

Find the capacity of your engine. Find its power, its size, its speed. An engine needs not only fuel to drive it, but oil to lubricate it. Else friction, results, the parts wear out, the engine stops and goes on the junk heap.

The oil that lubricates the human engine is happiness, contentment, the enjoyment of life.

Supposing your name is Jones. Discover Your Abilities.

What is Jones fitted for? What kind of work is he best equipped to do? How fast can he go?

And when I say he, I mean 'she' as well.

Discover your abilities. Then develop them to the fullest extent, but don't try to do more than you can.

Work hard—but only as hard as your mind or body permit.

Don't wreck yourself trying to be a Rockefeller, a Ford, an Einstein. Remember, you are Jones.

Be the best possible Jones, not a poor imitation of someone else.

After you have discovered your real self, learned to live with yourself—to be yourself—then with your own beginning of a happy life that no one can take away from you.

Here are a few practical tests: What do you really think of yourself? How much fun do you get out of living with yourself? How much respect have you for yourself? Would you want your son to be like yourself? Are you happy when you are alone? Do you enjoy a good book? Do you get pleasure out of music, art, nature? Have you the respect and love of your children and your friends? Do your friends like you for your own sake or because of what you can do for them?

Here is a simple formula. Living is more important than just living. To be happy, you must first know the meaning of happiness.

When you have learned that you don't have to ask how to be happy. You know.

ACHES AND PAINS

Old people suffer from aches and pains. They seem to think that it is a natural part of old age.

Sometimes they call it "rheumatism" or "rheumatics."

Perhaps some of these aches are due to lack of vitamins. Grandmas sits in the house all day and does not get any sunshine in the open air.

She is very careful that her little grandchildren get orange juice and fish liver oil. She forgets that she may need some for herself.

She may not need as many calories as she did when she was working harder. She needs minerals and vitamins and sunshine to help keep her in good condition.

We have more old people now than we used to have. In the future there will probably be more than there are now.

We must learn how to take good care of them for they are a valuable part of our community.

Using ADVANTAGE OF THE SITUATION

A tourist stopped his car in front of a country filling station and asked for some gas. As a means of making conversation he said to the gray-beard attendant: "MacArthur sure is doing great work, isn't he?"

"Who is MacArthur?" was the reply.

"Why, in heaven's name, man, don't you read the newspapers?" said the tourist.

"No, I don't read the newspapers and I never listen to the radio."

"Well in that case," said the tourist, "just give me four new tires and fill the tank to the brim with high test

October 7 Is Last Day For Registration

On Tuesday, November 7, American citizens will go to the polls and name the next president of the United States, along with a lot of state officials. Not all Pennsylvanians will go to the polls for many of them will not be registered.

The last day for registration in Lawrence county is October 7. When the permanent registration office closes on the night of October 7, only those who are registered then will be qualified to vote, and October 7 is but two weeks away.

Extra Hours

The office of permanent registration in the court house will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday of the week of October 2. On Saturday, October 7, the office will be open until 6 p. m. These hours are arranged so that all people regardless of their hours of work may be registered if they wish.

On Wednesday, September 27, a special registration will be held in Brasseur and Mount Jackson from 7 to 10 p. m. In Brasseur the registration will be in the municipal building and in Mount Jackson in the American Legion Hall.

October 7 is the dead line for registration. If you are not registered on that day you will sit this election out. You can register at any time in the office of permanent registration in the building adjoining the court house. But you had better do it soon or else.

Rights Of Poland Will Be Upheld

Congressmen Get Assurance Of U. S. Position From Secretary Hull In Conference

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Four United States Congressmen were homeward bound today with assurances from Secretary of State Hull that the American government will stand up for the rights of Poland in territorial settlements after the war.

The congressmen represents districts of strong Polish-American populations. Before leaving Washington after Congress recessed, they called on Hull to learn the intentions of the State department regarding the fate of Poland and other small nations.

Specifically, they said they feared Russia was being given a free hand to partition Poland, and to deal only with a Polish government formed by Russia.

Hold Long Conference

They came away from a two-hour conference with Hull, saying: "The greatest friend of Poland in the United States is Cordell Hull. He is a great American."

The congressmen are Representatives Thomas S. Gordon (D. Ill.), John D. Dingell (D. Mich.), George G. Sadowski (D. Mich.), and Alvin E. O'Konski (R. Wis.).

The highlight of the entire conference, the congressmen said, was Hull's emphatic statement that the United States does not and will not accept any unilateral territorial changes or boundary adjustments.

In other words, Russia will not be permitted to annex eastern Poland in return for territories taken from Germany on the west—without consent and approval of the other Allied powers at the peace table.

He did not go so far, however, as to say that such an adjustment would not be consented to.

Hull's main line of argument was

News Coverage Of War Given Commendation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—President Roosevelt today gave high commendation to what he termed the excellent news coverage of the war in general.

The president said in his news conference that dispatches from the front lines were so good that sometimes he read the stories of Allied advances first in news bulletins and then that perhaps a quarter of an hour later he would receive similar reports from the war or navy departments.

Mr. Roosevelt gave this observation in response to a question as to whether he had any comment to make on the war situation as a whole. He replied negatively, but then went on to say that one of the outstanding facts about the present war was that news coverage was so excellent that the public was kept completely up to date with events as they took place.

Survivors Tell Of Loss Of Ship In Hurricane

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 22.—(INS)—Survivors of the United States destroyer Warrington, sunk in the hurricane last Wednesday off the Virginia coast, are recovering in the Norfolk Naval Hospital, but an untold number of their fellow crewmen were lost.

Loss of the ship was announced Sunday by the navy, which also released news that two coastguard vessels the cutters Jackson and Beelzebub, were sunk in the same storm.

Crew members not numbered among the survivors of the Warrington are carried by the navy as "missing" and their next of kin have been so notified.

Adrift 48 Hours
Comdr. Samuel Frank Quarles, 33, ex-ship skipper of the Warrington, who was among those saved, told the story of the loss of his ship today, lying in his hospital bed. He and his crew fought the storm for 72 hours, and for 48 hours the survivors were adrift in mountainous seas on life rafts and floater nets.

"The Warrington was southbound when the storm became violent and by night the storm had 'quickly' damaged vital equipment which affected both ships' power and ships' ability to control flooding, as well as disarranging all communication facilities," Comdr. Quarles said.

One distress message was flashed at the last possible moment.

About 1:15 a. m. Wednesday the order to abandon ship was given as the Warrington was then lying over on her port side, with the wings of her bridge in the water.

Doctor Stays
Proudly the skipper spoke of his crew. "There was no hysteria, no excitement, just 'calm determination and resignation.'"

One man listed as missing was the doctor, Lt. Robert M. Kennedy of Elgin, Ill. He had two badly wounded men in the ward room, men who could not be moved, and he refused to leave them.

After the crew had abandoned the ship, Comdr. Quarles walked along on her port side, where he sat down to wait her final plunge. A huge wave washed him off, and as he fought his way to the surface of the water he saw the executive officer, Lt. W. U. Williams, of Seattle, Wash., who found a raft and he and the skipper climbed aboard. In all, eight men found refuge on that little craft.

Even worse than fighting the storm aboard ship was fighting it on the raft, both the executive officer and the commander said.

The mountainous waves flipped the raft over at least 10 times as though it were a pancake, and every time he went over the men, lashed to the raft, were pinned under it. And each time they swallowed salt water. All but two of the men were able to throw up this salt water, and these two died in spite of all the others could do for them.

Lt. Williams conducted funeral services for them, the last being held as rescue ships were speeding towards the forlorn and desperate survivors.

Long after the ship sank two depth charges exploded but luckily, Quarles said, no damage was done.

Clothing Retailers To Meet On Monday

Clothing retailers handling women's, girls' and toddlers' outerwear are planning to attend a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building in Pittsburgh at 10 o'clock Monday morning, September 25, to discuss the new pricing regulations which went into effect on September 18, the Price Panel Board announced this morning.

Under the revised regulation, pricing charts must be prepared from base period records, and two signed pricing charts must be filed with the Pittsburgh District Office by October 15, 1944. No sales or deliveries may be made by the retailer after November 15, 1944 unless acknowledgment of filing pricing charts has been received by the retailer from the Pittsburgh District Office, the Price Board warned.

STILL A MYSTERY
PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Shoe rationing still remains a mystery to some persons. An inebriated man entered the Portland OPA office the other day and said he wanted to buy a shoe stamp. When officials refused to cooperate he left in deep resentment. Some time ago a Portland debutante strolled in and demanded an extra shoe stamp with which to purchase jodpurs.

Agreement On Occupation Of Germany Near

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N.E.S.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Washington sources disclose that a long-term agreement on the occupation of Germany between Great Britain, Russia and the United States is about to be completed.
It appears that a Russian commission will control eastern Germany, an American the southern portion, and a British the northern part of Hitler's land of Nazism. It is also thought that a joint commission, representing each of the three nations will remain in permanent session in Berlin.

"No Softness"
That sounds very encouraging, but there is one prime requisite to any such agreement. There must be no softness in the drawing of it and none in its execution, either at the commencement or at any time during its long-range effectiveness.

For a time I commanded the escort squadron of cavalry of the American Army of Occupation in Germany immediately after World War I. Discussion of a new occupation agreement brings back strongly to my mind the conditions of that first occupation.

Fraternizing with the Germans was forbidden to the Americans. Most of our commissioned officers lived up to that order. However, it was impossible of enforcement with our enlisted men, who were billeted in German villages and in many cases living in the same houses with German families. There were a considerable number of German-American marriages during and after our period of occupation.

Try To Be Friendly
The average mass of the German citizens appeared to like the Americans and tried to be very nice to them. I occupied a farmer's house in a village east of Berlin. Brightly, every night when I went to bed I found that a plate of sandwiches and a pitcher of milk had been sent out for my refreshment. I did my best to stop that gesture of kindness but failed utterly.

It should never be forgotten that the masses of Germany are as much for world domination as were their leaders. That ambition will never be repressed. It must be exterminated, and the first step to extermination is the elimination of the Prussian military cult.

Governor Bricker Continuing His New Deal Attacks

Vice Presidential Candidate In Maryland; Makes Address In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 22.—(INS)—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Republican vice-presidential nominee, held today that the New Deal broke every American tradition—"one after the other"—in its 12-year program of setting up a "virtual dictatorship."

In one of his major eastern speaking engagements, Bricker told a GOP rally that among the broken traditions were failure to keep promises, failure to limit tenure for an American president and the discarding of the relationship of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government.

"There began a planned program of enhancing the power of the executive and subordinating the legislative and judicial branches of the government to executive domination," he said. "The specter of one-man government and complete regimentation began to take form."

"Legislation was prepared by the brain trusters, submitted to congress with a 'must pass' attached to it by the White House."

He said that although failing to pack the high tribunal directly, the New Deal has succeeded in doing so through its long tenure and has appointed a majority of judges of the lower courts because of their "adherence and conformance to the New Deal philosophy."

The GOP vice-presidential nominee said the American people were not fully aroused as to the import of the New Deal program until President Roosevelt attempted to destroy the balance of power by packing the supreme court.

Gov. Bricker left Baltimore after his speech for a tour of New England. His itinerary includes stops in Boston, Portland and Augusta with a main address tonight at Bangor, Me.

Waxy Gordon Is Factor In ProbeSurplus War Property Operations Probe Involves Beer Racket Era ManBy WILLIAM THEIS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The justice department swung officially today into the senate investigation of surplus war property operations by Irving Wexler, alias Waxy Gordon, the jail-wise veteran of New York's lush beer racket era.

One indicated objective of the department was the check on any hidden income which might be applied against Gordon's three million dollar debt to Uncle Sam represented by judgments pending against him.

Formal participation of the FBI and justice agents in the inquiry came when the senate war investigating committee, after questioning

Waxy, turned over to the attorney general records of telephone calls made by him.

High Point of Hearing

Gordon's testimony provided the high point of the senate hearing. Sparring and at time joking with the committee, the dark-skinned, stubby ex-beer baron admitted that he tried to sell surplus goods—but never for his own profit.

He did it, said the bland Waxy, as a favor for Albert T. Fahye, who advanced him commissions for working as a contact man for Consolidated Industries, Inc., of New York. The surplus items, Gordon related, were sold by World-Wide Mercantile Corporation, another concern in which Fahye also was interested.

"Did Not Solicit Sales"

Wexler, alias Gordon, said he merely "introduced" potential surplus good purchasers to World-Wide officials. "I did it free, gratis without any commissions," said Waxy, "because they had made a bad deal on the merchandise."

Surplus items handled by World-Wide, but on which Gordon insisted he did not "solicit" sales, ranged from cast iron pots to perfume oil and machetes.

In the course of his picturesque testimony—Gordon saying he had "rather talk about baseball"—the ex-racketeer admitted that he once quoted a price of "25 per cent above ceiling" on a consignment of new trucks. He dropped the truck deal, he said, when he learned that this constituted "a black market operation."

The committee did not call Sam Lazar, identified by his counsel as a Philadelphia formal pin-ball machine distributor and "associate of 'Boo Boo' Hoff," another racket figure. But it placed on record Fahye's testimony that it was a $10,000 loan from Lazar to Fahye which provided the financial backing for World-Wide's operations in the surplus property business.

Italian Postal Authorities Refuse To Accept International Exchange Stamps

Postmaster William R. Hanna today announced that word has been received from the postmaster general, stating that effective at once, the use of International Exchange stamps between this country and Italy has been discontinued.

For some reason, the Italian postal authorities have refused to honor the use of these stamps, which could be purchased for nine cents each in this country, and sent to Italy, where they were used to buy postage stamps to be sent to this country.

A great many New Castle folks of Italian descent have been buying these stamps here and sending them to their relatives in Italy. The demand exceeded the supply. Postmaster Hanna states, but they can no longer be used.

To prevent damage by high winds, dahlias should be staked.

Flower-Vegetable Show At Walmo Has Over 250 Entries

Prize Awards Are Announced; Displays Are Unusually Fine This Year

Annual flower and vegetable show sponsored by the Walmo Garden Club was held on Tuesday at the Walmo school.

The exhibit this year was very fine with 255 entries. For the second year Mrs. Ball's room came first with 85 entries. Mrs. Foster's second with 69 entries.

Flowers in arrangement—First, Grace Lou Nelson; second, Darrell Wigton.

Specimen flowers—First, Joann Murphy; second, Don Dover.

Specimen vegetables—First, Kenneth Wagner; second, Bert Miller.

A special prize was offered this year for unique vegetable arrangements. There were many entries, very cleverly showing much imagination.

The first prize went to Ronnie Kylander. A stalk of lettuce gone to seed was trimmed with vegetables and bright berries to resemble a miniature Christmas tree. Second award went to Harriet Smith for a very handsome Horn of Plenty filled with tiny vegetables.

The exhibit was kept over for the parent-teachers meeting in the evening and caused much favorable comment.

The committee in charge was Mrs. L. H. Dover, assisted by Mrs. Gerald Earl, Mrs. Roy Kylander and Mrs. Kenneth Cotton.

SPARS Begin Class In Home Planning

Coast Guard Women To Use Spare Time To Learn Details Of Cooking, Housekeeping

By JANE COCHRAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—You can put a uniform on a gal, and put her to driving Jeeps and 10-ton trucks, but you can't keep her from dreaming.

For that reason, plans were afoot today to launch a post-war planning course for the SPARS, the women's reserve of the coast guard, in the New York district. And the curriculum? How to plan and cook a meal, raise a family and keep a husband happy in the fondly awaited days of peace.

The idea originated with pretty, brunette Yeoman 2-c Margaret J. Gorley who will marry Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer George Foley in a month.

"We both work in public relations now," she said. "But after the war I want to quit being an expert at a typewriter and become an expert with a skillet. And I don't want to do all my practicing on my husband."

She consulted SPAR officers in the public relations section who in turn took the problem to top home economic experts. All agreed that the idea had merits and the classes will begin in about a month. They'll be small at first—about 75 top—but Capt. Dorothy C. Stratton, director of the SPARS, hopes the first class will serve as a model for SPARS throughout the country. Classes will be in spare time.

Home economists, food and women's page editors and SPARS met yesterday at a luncheon at the women's military services club and appointed Miss Eloise Davison, director of the New York Herald Tribune's home institute, as chairman, and Mrs. Dora Lewis, president of the American Home Economics Association, councilor, to frame the program.

The coast guard women want to know about "houses we'll live in—remember, we've been living out of suitcases for a long time now," they point out.

They want to know, too, about "the foods we'll eat—the change from lining up for chow to lining up the chow will be a big one."

Too, they're interested in the "fabrics we'll use—we need a preview of the milky-way, non-shrinkable world," SPARS state.

Lastly, but not least in importance, they want down-to-earth advice about "the families we'll raise—we're interested in fashion futures for caring and feeding of babies who'll fashion our futures."

Congress Begins 8-Week's Recess

Members Hopeful War With Germany Will End Before Reconvening Date

MOST LEGISLATION HAS BEEN COMPLETED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Congress began an eight-week pre-election recess today, its campaign-bound members hopeful that the war with Germany will end before they reconvene Nov. 14.

Members of the house and senate were advised that they will be recalled on three days' notice by congressional leaders in the event of a sudden emergency requiring their presence.

Both houses remained in session until late Thursday afternoon and recessed with the knowledge that the legislative program for the 78th session of congress was largely completed.

Only Major Problems

Only major legislation remaining before the present congress for perhaps the final four or five weeks of the session, before it expires Jan. 3, is the one billion dollar flood control bill, the 500 million dollar rivers and harbors bill and the one and a half billion dollar Hayden road construction bill. All are postwar measures, the house having approved the first two and the senate the third. It was expected they will be taken up after the November election.

Congress recessed amid an unsuccessful attempt by Republican members to obtain a congressional probe of the Pearl Harbor disaster before the November election. Two resolutions introduced in the house were left in the rules committee. Rep. Sabbath (D) Ill., committee chairman, termed them "Republican propaganda."

The final day highlighted by the passage of a joint resolution calling for an "international compact" on worldwide "freedom of the press."

Conversion Program

In the almost eight weeks it was in session since it reconvened Aug. 1 following a five-week pre-convention "holiday", congress completed the postwar reconversion legislation for which it had been recalled a month early.

In addition to the "GI bill of rights", providing benefits for returning veterans, which had been enacted earlier, congress approved the following measures: (1) Contract termination legislation to permit a quick reconversion of industry from war to peace, (2) the Comer surplus property bill, establishing machinery for the disposal of an estimated 60 to 100 billion dollars in excess war goods and (3) the George demobilization bill, creating an overall office of war mobilization and reconversion to coordinate the activities of war agencies during the postwar transition period.

The Comer and George bills are now awaiting the president's signature.

Shenango Students Out To Beat Record For Scrap And Bonds

Have Begun Drive To Exceed Last Year's Bond Sale; Also Collecting Milkweed And Paper

Students of Shenango high school are trying to out-do last year's war-work record in scrap and paper collections, and war bond and stamp purchases, as well as filling as many bags as possible with the much needed milkweed, according to Glenn Johnson, principal of the school.

The children have run out of bags, but the milkweed collections will start again as soon as more sacks arrive. Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Studebaker, the younger children, from first to sixth grade, are collecting tin cans again, and are bringing them to the school on the buses on certain days. The outstanding collections last year, when the total came to over 60,000 cans, were made by Leonard Locke and Norman Rigotti.

Opening their bond and stamp sales last Tuesday, the children are already getting started on their drive to exceed last year's total of $20,550 in bonds and $9,857 in stamps for Shenango high school and the Castlewood schools. Mr. Johnson said, Miss Mary Elizabeth Jenkins is chairman of the bond and stamp committee.

Running the scrap paper drive somewhat as the can collection is run, the children are also working to add as much paper as possible to the total for the recreation fund. Shenango school has been named as a collection center, and the students have been bringing in paper from their different neighborhoods.

Paying National Debt Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 22.—I have just returned from a conference on the national debt. It was pointed out that during the Coolidge administration the entire Federal expenditures—army, navy, pensions and the salaries of all bureaucrats—amounted to only about $3,500,000,000 annually. In the postwar years the servicing of the debt alone is estimated at $5,500,000,000 annually, with an anticipated tax bill of $25,000,000,000 annually.

Importance Of National Debt
To make our government bonds good and obtainable in order to provide Washington with the needed postwar funds, will require an annual income of at least $125,000,000,000, and perhaps $150,000,000,000. Each reader can figure this out for himself remembering that with government receipts this year about $45,000,000,000 and government spending of about $90,000,000,000 we are able to get on only by increasing the debt about $45,000,000,000.

In the depth of the past depression the national income was around $45,000,000,000. This was gradually increased to about $75,000,000,000 in 1939. Since then, wholly by war business, this national income has increased so that 1944 will show about double 1939. I do not expect to see the national income go back to prewar figures; but only a miracle can keep it up to $125,000,000,000. Even at this figure it will be impossible to balance the budget without taxes so high as to cripple industries, put a ball and chain on new enterprise and cause much unemployment. Hence, it truly is of great importance to keep the national income up as near as possible to present figures. Unless our Federal budget can be balanced in a reasonable time without further borrowing, we are sunk.

Don't Resort To Inflation
Of course, the simplest way, temporarily, to double the national income is through inflation. By doubling 1939 prices we can double 1939 wages and double 1939 profits. This, however, would work only to the advantage of the holders of certain real estate and common stocks which might, likewise, double in price. Otherwise, it would be only a shot in the arm, like the temporary stimulant from a strong cup of coffee or a drink of whiskey. Yet, it is the easy way and Congress may ultimately adopt it.

The real solution lies with considering the national income other than in material terms such as dollars. The great opportunity today lies not with merely utilizing more land, employing more labor, and loaning more dollars. Shortening the working day to "spread labor" is no different from killing little pigs and plowing up cotton. I am delighted to have Thomas E. Dewey talk about "new frontiers"; but he apparently ignores the frontiers with the greatest opportunities of all, namely, the intellectual and spiritual.

President Roosevelt's Mistake
President Roosevelt says that the League of Nations failed because it

Thomas Jefferson Hailed By Martin

Outstanding Champion Of American Freedom, Says Pennsylvania Governor

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, was hailed today by Gov. Edward Martin as an outstanding champion of American freedom.

Speaking at a Philadelphia meeting last night commemorating the 200th anniversary of Jefferson's birth, the governor said "He was a liberal in the truest sense of the word."

"He devoted his life to establishing the freedoms of his fellow countrymen," he stated. "Freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom of government, freedom of action—he wanted them all to endure. They were his creed and his life."

"Thomas Jefferson was one of that magnificent group who, after the revolution, laid down the principle that freedom and paternal security could not live within the framework of the same government," the chief executive continued. "He knew it required high courage to give up the security of paternalism for freedom."

"In the 200 years since his birth, our nation has passed through years of war, peace, progress, peril and prosperity," he added. "Those years have seen us develop into the foremost nation of the world, the strongest in might, the richest, and the most productive."

'Happy Days' Are Seen At College

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 22.—It may be only one optimistic note in this war-torn world, but if the rambles of the new college generation are any sign, brighter days are on their way. Among the freshmen registered at Westminster College are three young ladies named Joy, Gaye, and Cheerful. The co-eds are Joy Redmond, Akron, O.; Gaye Jordan, Pittsburgh; and Cheerful Pettit, Washington, Pa.

'LICENSE REVOKED'
PITTSBURGH—(INS)—A liquor control board agent, testifying in a cafe's appeal from its liquor license revocation, described for County Judge Blair F. Gunther in highly restrained, but nevertheless precise terms a dance in which he said two women patrons of the tavern participated. The cafe's attorney jumped to his feet and objected to the testimony, declaring the restaurant had a dance permit. "Such dancing is indecent," the judge snapped back, adding, in afterthought, "even with a permit."

Secretary Perkins Reports On Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Secretary of labor Frances Perkins reported today that higher clothing and egg prices were responsible for a two-tenths of one per cent increase in the cost of living from mid-July to mid-August.

"Average prices of all major groups of foods except eggs decreased, or remained unchanged, but the seven per cent seasonal advance in egg prices more than offset these other declines in the cost of foods," Miss Perkins said.

In addition, clothing costs climbed seven-tenths of one per cent. Higher prices for women's winter cloth coats chiefly accounted for the overall increase.

Vice President Urges Support Of Fourth Term

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace in his first formal speech supporting the fourth term campaign of President Roosevelt, maintained today that Mr. Roosevelt's personal ties with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin required the President's reelection.

"The question is not one of 'indispensability,'" said Wallace but which of the two nominees—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Mr. Roosevelt—can best handle the problems of peace.

"Who can better cooperate with Churchill, Stalin and the Generalissimo in writing a lasting, liberal democratic peace which will best preserve American interest without being unfair to any nation great or small," asked Wallace.

"Who can best make sure that there are jobs for everybody and therefore good incomes for farmers, white collar workers, business and professional men?"

USE GREEN TOMATOES FOR TASTY RELISHES

Instead of letting Jack Frost ruin the green tomatoes left on your vines, make use of them yourself. Mature green tomatoes, those almost ready to turn, will ripen at a cool room temperature in either sunlight or shade. Spread them out in the window sill if there are not too many or the room is not too warm.

Immature green tomatoes won't ripen and they won't keep long, so plan to use them soon after picking. You can combine tomatoes with tart apples to make green tomato mincemeat or you can combine them with cabbage, onions, and green peppers for a relish.

Here are a few tips to keep in mind when making green tomato relishes or pickles: use only fresh, good quality food; pure granulated salt; pure spices (ground or whole); and enamel, aluminum, or stainless steel kettles for cooking.

A green tomato pickle that has been a favorite with many families is made in the following way: 1 peck green tomatoes, thinly sliced; 4 onions, thinly sliced; 1 cup salt; 1 ounce whole cloves; 1 ounce whole allspice; 1 ounce peppercorns; 1 cup brown mustard seed; 1 pound brown sugar; 4 green peppers, finely chopped; cider vinegar.

Sprinkle alternate layers of tomatoes and onions with salt and let stand overnight. In the morning drain and put in a preserving kettle, adding remaining ingredients, using enough vinegar to cover all. Heat gradually to boiling point and boil one-half hour. Pack hot in sterilized jars and seal while hot.

Firm Employment Program Set Up

Postwar Re-Employment Program
For World War II Veterans
Should Be Successful

HERSHEY, Pa., Sept. 22.—(INS)—Regional Selective Service officials were unanimous today in their belief that the postwar re-employment program of World War II veterans will be successful because of the "firm foundation" during a two-day conference at Hershey.

"I am certain that the steps which are now being taken will guarantee that we will not have a situation like that which followed World War I when thousands upon thousands of American men and boys walked the streets in vain looking for work or even a sympathetic ear," declared Col. A. J. Lewis, regional field director.

Fine Spirit Shown
Colonel Lewis, director of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware area, told officials at the closing session yesterday that the spirit of the people indicated the employment program will be successful.

Echoing earlier remarks by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, he pointed out that while government agencies can help, the real job must be done in local communities. Lewis explained his experience indicated people were aware of the problem and will do all in their power to assure veterans preferential treatment.

Col. Richard K. Mellon, Pennsylvania director, expressed the belief that the meeting helped bring officials to a clearer understanding of the work to be done.

SCRANTON—Approximately 98 per cent of the people are honest, according to Dorothy M. McCormick, secretary of the Commercial Association of Scranton. A survey by a parent organization revealed "carelessness rather than evasion" as the cause for tardy payments, she stated.

By Extension Representatives, LEWIS C. DAYTON, Agriculture;
MISS LAURA PHILLIPPI, Home EconomicsCLEAN GARDENS NOW AVOID DISEASE IN 1945

Thorough cleaning of the gardens now will help control garden diseases in next year's crops. Because gardens are often replanted in the same place year after year, it is important to avoid any diseases that might survive over the winter.

Get rid of all diseased plants now. This can be accomplished by pulling and burning them, or plowing under completely in the fall. Warning also is given that disease organisms can live and develop in compost piles and that diseased plants should not be used to make compost.

Another source of disease is weeds in and near the gardens, and these, too, should be removed and destroyed. Pointing out that this year's dry weather has held many diseases in check in the gardens, caution is sounded that with normal rainfall, garden diseases are likely to develop much more destructively and severely.

MICE IN ORCHARDS
PRESENT PROBLEMS

The presence of meadow mice and pine mice in the orchards means a definite hazard. Orchardists are urged to locate areas where mice are prevalent now, and effectively place poison bait later.

Mice of both species girdle orchard trees, and although present conditions indicate the population of mice may be less than average this year, orchardists should not relax any efforts to control these pests.

Areas of heavy grass growth should be watched and all runways located now, to facilitate the distribution of poison bait. This bait can be placed in the runways, in the grass, or under bundles of corn fodder or old hay placed in the orchard. Placing hay and litter now will bring the mice to spots where they can be killed more effectively. Bait stations should be plentiful if mice are numerous. By placing them now, orchardists can prepare to set out the poison bait in about a month.

SHEEP BREEDERS AT IMPORTANT SEASON

The fall breeding season is the most important time of year for sheep breeders.

The lambing percentage of ewes has increased 10 to 15 per cent by weaning lambs and giving the ewes a rest before the lambs are turned in the flock. Breeding ewes should have fresh pasture, or a little grain for a few weeks before the breeding season. Every effort should be made to get the ewes in good condition and then keep them gaining in flesh before entering winter quarters.

In selecting the rams, choose those that are short-legged, heavily boned, and carrying a profitable fleece. If the ram is carrying too much wool, it can be sheared before the breeding season.

Ewes that are in good condition when winter begins can be considered half-wintered.

LAUNDER SHEETS RIGHT AND PROLONG THEIR LIFE

When sheets need mending do it before laundering. This not only makes mending easier but helps to lengthen the life of the sheet.

Remove all stains before washing. If stains do not come out with ordinary treatment, soak the bed linens 15 minutes in clear cool water. Hot water sets stains and long soaking sets dirt.

Eight to ten minutes in the washing machine is a long enough washing period. However, a second washing in clean soapsuds may be necessary for badly soiled linens. Use about half as much soap in the second suds as you used in the first. Rinse sheets in clear warm water until last water is clear. Soap left in sheets shortens their life and is likely to give them a yellowish tint.

If you fold sheets evenly and put them through the wringer straight, there will be fewer wrinkles and strain on the threads will be lessened. Hang the sheets evenly on a clean clothesline.

Some women like to use sheets just as they come from the line without ironing. When this is done, the sheets are thoroughly dry before taking from the line. However, for ironing the sheets may be removed from the line while slightly damp and folded. If too dry they may be sprinkled lightly. Sheets mildew easily in warm damp weather so do not wait too long before ironing. On ironing day make yourself comfortable, having the ironing board the correct height. Sit when ever possible. Be sure all dampness is out of sheets before putting them away.

How neatly you do your job of laying new linoleum depends upon how well you plan the task and how sharp is your cutting edge. To insure a perfect fit take plenty of time with your measurements and begin cutting only after you are sure of yourself.

Life Sentence Given Clemons

Lawrence County Court
Imposes Sentence On Man Who Killed His Father

David Clemons, colored youth of 28 years, was sentenced to life imprisonment today by Judges W. Walter Graham and John G. Lammie for the murder of his father, Wilson Clemons, on April 1 of this year. Clemons, confessed to the murder, pleaded guilty and after hearing testimony to decide the degree of guilt the court fixed it at first degree murder with life imprisonment.

David Clemons served in both the navy and the army but was discharged from both. Returning from army service he lived with his father, Wilson Clemons, on Mahoning avenue. On April 1 David arose somewhere near 5 o'clock to go to his work in Farrell. He believed the clock was wrong and charged his father with tampering with it. An argument ensued and the testimony showed that the senior Clemons came down the stairs with a hatchet in his pocket.

Killed In Yard.

David said he saw the hatchet and grabbed an axe. When the father came down he saw the axe in David's hand and started running out into the yard. Somewhere in the yard he tripped and fell and David made for him with the axe. The testimony shows that the father made a pass at his son with the hatchet whereupon David hit him in the head with the axe killing him.

Dr. W. W. Richardson, physician at Mercer, testified that David Clemons had the mentality of a nine-year-old child but could distinguish right from wrong. The court held that he knew what he was doing, that he had time to plan the murder and held him guilty in the first degree. Clemons took the sentence without any visible evidence of emotion.

Other sentences included the following:

Lennie Ben Mitchell, plea to a morals charge. Assessed $18 per month for the support of a child.
 Leta Preston Seymour, plea to a morals charge. Sentence suspended upon payment of the cost.
 John Alexander Brady, plea to a morals charge, fined $100 and costs or three months in the county jail.
 Alice Smith, felonious assault and battery. Committed to the women's institution at Muncy.

No-Strike Pledge Is Reaffirmed By Rubber Workers

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The United Rubber Workers, CIO, representing more than 200,000 members had voted today by two to one to reaffirm their no-strike pledge for the duration of the war.

Union officials, led by President Sherman H. Dalrymple, thus won a victory since they fought a strong sentiment among the members against re-stating the pledge. In its final version it declared its opposition to wartime strikes "without qualification or reservation."

Stolberg Mayor Greets U. S. Forces Says Broadcaster

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Reporter James Cassidy, representing National Broadcasting Company and Station WLW, Cincinnati, O., broadcasting from inside Germany, today quoted American troops as saying the mayor of Stolberg had gone to the edge of the town to greet Allied forces, and that he rode back into the city with them.

Cassidy, broadcasting over the Army Signal Corps transmitter JESQ—Jig Easy Sugar Queen—added that "Stolberg, east of Aachen and the furthest point of strong penetration by American forces, is now virtually in our hands."

"I have just learned from troops who were there that the mayor of Stolberg this morning is said to have come out to the edge of the town, greeted our men and rode into the city with them. Wonderful if true."

"From the other side of the city (east of Stolberg) German troops are still striking," Cassidy continued. "The latest word is that they are retreating to take up new positions if they can—farther into Germany."

"The Germans are great bandwagon riders. There is every evidence that the people between the Siegfried Line and the Rhine would like to, and want to, ride with us—that is everybody except the Hitler youths."

"I have seen them standing around watching our tanks and trucks pass by, especially those between 13 and 15, looking dejected and unbelieving as all children do when they finally discover there is no Santa Claus."

Today's transmission was Cassidy's second broadcast from inside Germany.

Attack Renewed On St. Nazaire

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The Nazi agency DNB reported today that Allied troops have launched an all-out attack by ground and air against the French channel port of Calais, chief of the robot bomb nest.

A "fair-scale" attack also was launched by American troops against St. Nazaire, DNB said.

INVITING ARREST

Someone has been inviting arrest here, not only once but twice. On two successive nights persons have torn down no parking signs on East Washington street which is being repaved.

St. Paul's To Have Special Services

St. Paul's Lutheran church, corner of Jefferson and Grant streets, will have two special services Sunday.

Rally Day will be observed during the Sunday school hour at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, when a program will be presented. Awards will also be given to those in attendance.

Harvest home services will be conducted later at 10:45 o'clock when members of the Sunday school and congregation will take jars of fruit and vegetables for the Rochester Epileptic Home at Rochester, Pa.

Parent-Teachers

Rose Avenue P. T. A.

Rose Avenue Parent-Teachers association opened its 1944-45 season Thursday night when a meeting was held in the school building on Rose avenue. For the first meeting the attendance was good.

Mrs. Dallas Thompson, the new president of the chapter, presided and welcomed the new members and urged them to get into the work of the P. T. A. Mrs. R. W. Harris led in the P. T. A. prayer.

Mrs. Parris also reported on the county council meeting which was held earlier in the week. Delegates who attended the Pittsburgh conference some weeks ago also reported. They included Mrs. Dallas Thompson, Mrs. R. W. Harris, Mrs. Walter Jessel and Mrs. Clarence McConnell.

The room attendance prize went to the room taught by James Darr.

The penny march and refreshments closed the meeting. Future meetings will be held on the second Tuesday night of each month.

New Castle Battles Youngstown East Tonight

Schoolboy Teams Will Draw Crowd

Expect Close To 10,000 To Witness Contest At Taggart Stadium

Kickoff Slated For 8 O'Clock, East Gunning For Victory Here

With a heavy sale of tickets this week, indicating a crowd of close to 10,000 on hand tonight, at Taggart Stadium, New Castle's scrappy "Red Hurricane" football team meets a powerhouse Youngstown East high eleven, under the lights. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock, a change from the two previous games.

The records show that out of five previous meetings between the two schools that Youngstown East has won but one, that back in 1937 by a 7 to 0 tally. One game has been tied and seven are on the New Castle right side of the ledger. Tonight East's big rugged team with veterans at almost every post will be top-heavy favorites to take the measure of the inexperienced New Castle eleven.

East Plenty Tough
East opened last Saturday by trouncing a good big Ursuline High team from Youngstown 32 to 6 at Raven stadium and showed the fans enough stuff to warrant their being installed over New Castle's veteranless club. East had plenty of power and speed last week and will unleash it in all its fury here tonight. Coach Dick Barrett decries the fact that he has a big team, but still comes forward to show that this East High line will average 175 pounds. Pretty heavy for New Castle's line which will not go over 160. The East center George Sertich will go 6 feet 2 and weigh 213 pounds. Five of the Youngstowners will go 6 feet and better.

New Castle Undaunted
New Castle High's inexperienced eleven awaits the game tonight undaunted by the fact that this will be their first big test, in East High. You could not well compare Har-Brack and Butler with East's club. Tonight will be New Castle's baptism against a really great team.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh says, "You can look for a good ball game, but truthfully I don't expect my boys to win this one tonight, but we will be in there trying for 40 minutes and fighting and will not be any pushovers, you can bet on that."

"If Youngstown East scores tonight they will have earned it. New Castle's favorite sons have shown me this week that we have the polish of game experience," was the way Bridenbaugh put it.

Anything Can Happen
"I wouldn't say that we will win this one, out on the other hand we haven't lost it yet either, anything can happen on a football field, remember that," the local mentor concluded.

New Castle hopes to be at top-form for the gruelling contest that waits for them, but there is not much hope of starting Freddie Wimer who has a bad ankle. Wimer is a valuable end and will be missed, but Eddie Jackson has had enough experience to handle the job. New Castle's backfield of Billy Andrews at quarter this week, will be set for a good performance, with Panella and Benigas slated for the half-back spots. "Misery" Walls will be in at fullback and rarin' to go. Remember the kickoff has been changed from 8:15 o'clock to 8:00 o'clock.

In building a dog house it is well to remember it should be constructed in such a way that there will be an air space between the floor and the ground. Good plan is to mount it on four bricks.

Junior Title At Stake On Sunday

Flag Winners Of American Legion And Catholic Junior Leagues Play At Lee Avenue Field

When the Cozy Corners and St. Monica teams play at Lee avenue field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Junior title of the city will be at stake. The Cozy Corners won the championship of the American Legion Junior League, and St. Monica won the Catholic Junior League title.

Both teams have an array of star players and a hard-fought and interesting game is looked for. On the mound for Cozy Corners will be either Fireman Joe Zeigler or Ace Shriver, as their star hurler, Lefty "Bill" Andrews will be unable to hurl because of his interference with his high school football duties. Zeigler has two no-hit games and Shriver one, in Junior League play. The game was originally scheduled for the Washington field, but has been transferred to Lee avenue.

Softball Title At Stake Sunday

Industrial softball second-half title will be at stake Sunday at Marshall Field at 2:30 o'clock, when the Johnson Bronze and I. A. Machinists tangle. The game was rained out last Wednesday evening.

If the Bronze wins, the championship will be settled right then and there as the Kiski Marino combination won the first-half crown. If the Machinists win there will be a series playoff.

All-Around Star

Cardinals Win Pennant Again

No Surprise To Baseball Browns Gain As Yanks Hand Tigers Defeat

By JOHN CASHMAN (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The St. Louis Cardinals held their third straight pennant today as their brothers in the American League, the Browns gained a full game in their race for the flag, trailing the leading Detroit Tigers by only half a game.

The victory of the Cards came as no surprise to anyone and was little more than a routine affair, since they wound up National League champions with the substantial lead of 13 games.

The other St. Louis club, however is fighting a hard battle, with the Tigers half a game lead and the New York Yankees, the eternal pennant snatchers, only three games behind.

The Cards took their victory easily, defeating the Boston Braves, 5 to 4, in the first game of a double header. The second contest of the afternoon stretched to 10 innings and was finally taken by the St. Louis club, 6 to 5.

Browns Top Senators
The Browns shaded Washington by a good margin, 9 to 4, in a night game.

The Browns were helped in their race for the pennant when the Yanks defeated the Tigers, 5 to 4, in a 10th inning victory. Frank Crosetti, one of the few remaining veterans of last year's pennant-winning crew, was chiefly responsible for the win when he drove a double high off the left field screen to bring Johnny Lindell in from second.

Cleveland downed Boston in the only remaining game scheduled in the American League, 5 to 2.

Pirates Grab Two
In the National League, aside from the final emergence of the Cards as champs, the Chicago Cubs took the New York Giants for both ends of a twin bill, 11 to 8 and 6 to 4. The double defeat made it seven games dropped in a row for the New York club and almost definitely eliminated them from the top four going into the home stretch.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dug themselves deeper into the cellar position by the loss of two games to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 4 and 14 to 6. Cincinnati took both games of a double bill from the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 3 in 12 innings, and 8 to 4.

COACH PAUL BROWN, well known to Ne-Ca-Hi because of games with Massillon, is coaching Great Lakes Bluejackets and has plenty of place-kicking artists on his squad. They are Hal Duddridge of Washington, Hal Mullins of Duke, Don Mangold of Indiana, Ara Parseghian of Akron U., Rocky Pallandino of Notre Dame and Jim Mello of Notre Dame. Just how place-kicks will fare will be noted Saturday when Great Lakes opens against Purdue.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER (International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—James Joy Johnston, the irrepressible band leader of Broadway, is in distress. He misplaced a heavyweight.

The first inkling he had of the presence of a new heavyweight in the Johnston fold came recently when an envelope bearing the Johnston coat of arms came to this desk, and upon examination was found to contain only a picture.

The photo was of a large young man with big biceps and glossy hair, seemingly pulling on a set of boxing mittens. Underneath the photo, inscribed in caps, was the proclamation: Here He Comes—The Great Menichelli: South America's Sensational Heavyweight Contender—South America's Fighting Gaucho.

Believed In Shucco
Now, it seems only yesterday that James Joy called INS and stated that he had the next heavyweight champion in the person of Tony Shucco, if Boston, who was disinterested from the limbo of retired deadweights so recently he had not shaken off the odor of the crypt. Such a brilliant future was forecast for Shucco by Johnston that the Bostonian should have coasted along on Johnston's enthusiasm alone. However, Shucco just seemed to fade away.

Being interested we called Johnston. "Would it be too indecate to ask what happened to Mr. Shucco?"

There was a long, pained pause before Johnston said, "I think you're being unnecessarily inquisitive, but if you must know, he was fouled by a succession of foul knaves and his efficiency was impaired."
"All right, then," he said, "What about this Menichelli person?"
Johnston then launched himself on a stream of superlatives which immediately established the great Menichelli as a fighter of men who was headed for glory. According to Johnston, Menichelli (Fernando is his first name, has had 75 professional and amateur fights and turned in over 6 knockouts. He won various tournaments in South and Central American countries, but it was very difficult getting Johnston to explain the proposition of amateur fights to professional in the great Menichelli's record.

Ellwood-Rochester Elevens To Clash

Ellwood's Powerhouse Wolverine Team Starts Valley Title Quest

Kickoff At 8 O'Clock Will Find Large Crowd At Lincoln Field For Battle

(Special To The News)
ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 22.—Two powerful and high scoring football teams, Ellwood City and Rochester high schools tangle tonight at Lincoln Field, this city, in what may determine the Beaver Valley championship this season. The kickoff is slated for 8:15 o'clock. A packed Lincoln stadium will greet the eager schoolboy elevens.
It is a meeting of the Wolverines and the Rams, the two teams have about identical early season records. Rochester having disposed of Newell, West Virginia 20 to 0 and Midland 40 to 7. Ellwood dumped Union 44 to 0 and Farrell 39 to 7, making Rochester about seven points better in scoring than the Howard Gill coached combination.
Ellwood's last win over a Rochester eleven was back in 1941, and then it was 12 to 7. Two years ago the Rams defeated Ellwood City 26 to 7 and last year 12 to 6. The Blue and White clad warriors hope to make it three in a row tonight.
Coach Howard Gill has the Ellwood Wolverines in the best of shape for the big battle this evening. He is counting on Billy McClintick the 129 pound showman for a while of a game tonight. This chap did a good job in the trouncing handed to Farrell, making two of the touchdowns. Dale Tillis the big fullback is still ailing and may not start tonight his place will likely be taken by Milnes.

College Football To Open Saturday

Some Strong Teams Slated
For Tests In Opening
Battles On 1944
Calendar

By PAI ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The football season gets under way tomorrow with some surprisingly strong teams slated to clash in their initial games.

For instance the UCLA-Southern California game may supply the eventual entry for the Rose Bowl game.

With thousands of 17-year-olds breaking into the game and with a large number of boys resuming play from the armed services, there probably will be more than the usual quota of upsets every Saturday throughout the season.

Anything Can Happen
We haven't the usual accuracy line we would have in a pre-war season but we may be able to stab a few winners in tomorrow's entries.

For instance, we are going to take a flier on UCLA to win in a game that our Pacific coast operative tells us should be fairly close. While tabbing them out there, we like California to beat St. Mary's College of the Pacific to beat St. Mary's Pre-Flight, and Washington of course to swamp Willamette.

Moving further east we like Colorado college against Washburn, Colorado over for Warren and New Mexico over Arizona State. Some of the service teams are going to cause us as well as college coaches a few headaches before the season ends.

We are going to make a stab at Missouri to take Arkansas and moving into the always powerful southwest we like TCU to beat Kansas, West Texas State to down Oklahoma Aggies, Texas Aggies to trim Bryan Air Field, Texas Tech to beat Lubbock Air Field and Tulsa to wallop North Texas Aggies.

Favors Pitt
We are putting ourselves out on a limb in some of these Big Ten games but anyhow, here goes: Purdue to down Great Lakes, Illinois to surprise Indiana, Michigan a fairly safe bet against Marquette, and with our fingers crossed, Minnesota to beat the Iowa Sea Hawks. We also like Miami university over Oberlin.

Down south Virginia should handle Hampden-Sydney easily enough. North Carolina may have a tougher tussle with Wake Forest but should prevail. Clemson should trim Presbyterian without trouble. Duke should take Richmond and we'll take a gamble on Mississippi to beat Kentucky.

In the east we like Pitt over West Virginia, Rochester over Union, Bucknell over Muhlenberg and Villanova over Scranton. Syracuse has displayed surprising strength and a victory over Cornell would not be a stunning upset by any means. Nevertheless, we'll string along with Cornell.

Outer ends of the porch flooring are the first to decay, so when you are doing a painting job be sure this part of the flooring has been well covered.

Home Of Chicago School Head Is Wrecked By Bomb

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Police guarded the homes of Chicago public school officials today following the bombing last night of the first floor apartment of Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson.

The bombing marked a violent climax to two weeks of city wide indignation and protest over Johnson's abolition of the school "ransom" system. The action forced thousands of pupils to change to new schools. Objecting parents are seeking an injunction to prevent enforcement of the order.

The bomb exploded at the rear of the Johnson place, shattering every window and destroying the back porch.

Johnson's daughter, Patricia Joyce, 8, only occupant of the apartment at the time narrowly escaped injury when flying glass showered over her bed.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

DUCKS

In most sections of the middle west and in many other regions duck hunting resolves itself into three phases—the opening day period, the "pot hole" interim, and the opening day period.

Blue-wing teal, unless the weather has been exceptionally cold, rainy and windy, haven't yet migrated, and thousands of them fall victims to the early season hunter. If an area is worthy of being called "duck country" at all many mallards, pintails and web-foot of other species that have made their homes there will be a-wing.

If there are hunters enough to keep the birds in motion it does not make so much difference whether it's "bluebird weather" or not.

The opening day aggregation of Nimrods usually is a motley crew. Some of them hunt in carefully prepared blinds, behind batteries of decoys, and employ calls to lure their game. Others establish themselves without benefit of stools in or about sloughs where ducks are likely to fly within range, or on passes, while many more, maybe a majority, just wander about on the chance that something will happen their way.

Opening Best
Opening day is followed by two or three days of less productive shooting, when there are fewer gunners to stir up the birds. The ducks become more wary and likely to sit out in the middle of a lake, and when many birds abandon their summer feeding grounds entirely.

Follows a period of pot-hole shooting, when the hunter who likes to stalk his game comes into his own. Webfeet that have been scattered by the early fusillade take to ponds, river bayous and small expanses of open water in marshes in small flocks, or even in pairs or singly. The pot-hole hunter travels from one likely spot to another and while he usually bags fewer birds than he did on opening day he sometimes has more sport doing it.

Retriever Goes To Work
If he has a good retriever he often salvages several ducks that would otherwise escape wounded or be lost by falling into inaccessible terrain. The northern flight period is more or less of a gamble. It's then that duck hunting attains its peak, if you're Johnny-on-the-spot when the big Canadian birds pass through. Orange-legged black ducks, hefty greenheads, tasty canvasbacks and sporty redheads constitute a large portion of the northern flight bag.

Whether you hit the northern flight on the beam or not, you'll find that careful planning will in most instances pay dividends in any sort of duck shooting.

Navy Says No Examination Of Overseas Ballots

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The Navy Department said today it has received no reports of actual examination of overseas election ballots by its censors but admitted there was a possibility that some may appear bearing the censor's stamp.

A navy spokesman said: "In view of the fact that the Navy Department has received no reports of actual examination of ballots by censors or of tampering of ballots as mailed by naval personnel, any appearance of such a stamp probably is the result of some censor stamping the envelope in the mistaken belief that delivery of the envelope cannot be expedited unless it bears such a stamp."

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Undertone Is Firm With Majority Of Leaders Tending Higher This Morning

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The stock market was irregular and quiet in the forenoon today. Although the market undertone was firm with a majority of the leaders tending higher, some groups were spotty.

Volume ran at less than 100,000 shares an hour in early trading. Rails were sluggish with the average for the section a shade lower. Steels were neglected, Jones and Laughlin and U. S. Steel crossing the tape first at slightly lower levels, then firming. Motors stayed around Thursday's close.

U. S. Smelting cracked 2 points, reflecting a dividend cut announced yesterday. International Nickel gained but other coppers were easier. Liquor stocks strengthened. Douglas Aircraft gained a half point.

The bond market moved narrowly.

Public Savings Sets New Mark

Survey Shows Public Has
Total Of 130 Billion Dollars In Cash, Deposits, Securities

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(INS)—The American public's savings—in cash, bank deposits and government securities—today was at an all-time high of 130 billion dollars.

That figure was reported by the Securities and Exchange Commission following a survey covering the second quarter of the year. Equally divided among the population, the sum would provide every man, woman and child with $1,000.

The SEC said 84 billion dollars of the savings is in cash on hand or in the bank while the remaining 46 billion dollars is in government securities.

Meanwhile, the agency reported, money in circulation has reached the record total of 20 billion dollars—five times the amount circulating during the hey-day of 1929.

TRUCKS SLOW DOWN

DENVER — (INS) — Motorists traveling Colorado highways are driving slower than they did three months ago, but are still going too fast according to Executive Secretary W. M. Williams of the state highway traffic committee. Average speed several months ago was nearly 45 miles per hour. It is down to 37.2 miles. The one thing Williams pointed out, is that trucks are averaging less speed than passenger cars and buses.
